

Each side closes the end it doesn't use — data flows one way: write() in the parent, read() in the child.